1. The Council of Ministers (of the Estonian SSR) is located in Toompea loss (castle). Sessions of the Supreme Council are held in the rooms of the former Estonian State Assembly.
2. The Presidium of the Supreme Council (of the Estonian SSR) is located in the administration building of Kadrioru loss (castle).
3. The Central Committee of the Communist Party (of the Estonian SSR) has offices in the former EKA building on Vabaduse Väljak (Freedom Square).
4. The Town Committee of Tallinn is in the building of the former Polaris Insurance Society, at the corner of Aia t. (tee - Estonian for "way") and Vana Viru t.
5. The Tallinn Executive Committee is located in the Town Hall (Raekoda). The Chairman is A. Hendrikson, a Russian Estonian; his deputy is a Russian. 50X1-HUM the general rule in each Party Committee, as in all the Ministries, is that, if the Chief or the First Secretary is an Estonian, his deputy or assistant is always a Russian. Thus, the direction everywhere is actually in the hands of Russians and the Russian language is gradually gaining on the Estonian.
6. Tallinn is divided for administrative purposes into four districts, each having a District Party Committee and District Executive Committee with their own offices of all the departments, such as health, education, Communist Youth, welfare, finance, agriculture, social insurance, building, etc. These are distinct from the Town offices of all such departments, which are located in various parts of the town (exact locations not available). The District or Raioon Committees are located as follows:

Harbor - in Uus Sadama t. (number not known)

[redacted] the militia stations in Tallinn do not make a good impression; the rooms are dirty and littered with rubbish. The higher officials are all Russians, and many Russians from the districts around Narva and Petseri are employed there along with only very few Estonians. The standard of intelligence among militia men is very low and matters are often dealt with negligently.

9. [redacted] since the beginning of 1950, the militia of Tallinn, as the capital of the country, have been issued red shoulder boards and red cap bands. In other towns and in rural districts the color is still blue.
